applied groundwater modeling simulation of flow and advective transport

After calibrating the model under steady state, the model is simulated under transient conditions by using the time parameter from the parameter list of Modflow and the historical records of water level in the available wells. The heads resulting from the steady state simulation are used as starting heads in time dependent analysis (Anderson and Woessner, 1992). New parameters such as storage coefficient return water flow after irrigation and the historical records of water table elevations in the available wells are assigned the model grid. ...Â Applied Groundwater Modeling Simulating Flow and Advective Transport.
